Introduction

We were filled with excitement and eager anticipation as we prepared for the Erasmus project, knowing it would be an ideal opportunity to improve ourselves in every aspect of life. We were looking forward to the cultural exchange, the chance to meet new people, and the personal growth that awaited us.

While we were planning every detail, our minds were buzzing with the possibilities ahead—new challenges, experiences, and skills to acquire. The idea of stepping out of our comfort zones and embracing something completely different had us all eager to begin. We couldn't wait to start this journey!

First vibes

At first, the place felt unfamiliar and overwhelming. Everything was new—the culture, the language, and the surroundings. We had moments of uncertainty as we navigated through unfamiliar streets and tried to adapt to new customs. It was a challenge to break the ice, but we knew this was part of the process.

However, once we settled in, the supportive environment made all the difference. People were welcoming, and we quickly found ourselves connecting with others. The warmth and openness from everyone helped us adjust with ease, and soon, we felt comfortable and at home. The experience turned out to be not only manageable but also incredibly enriching.

ICT advancements

Our ICT knowledge in WordPress has been essential in creating user-friendly and visually appealing websites. We have mastered using WordPress themes and plugins to customize pages and integrate multimedia content. Our focus on text and image design ensures that the websites we create are both functional and aesthetically pleasing.

By working with WordPress, we've learned how to seamlessly integrate videos, interactive elements, and other multimedia, enhancing the overall user experience and ensuring our projects are dynamic and engaging..

Pollution is the introduction of harmful materials into the environment. These harmful materials are called pollutants. Pollutants can be natural, such as volcanic ash. They can also be created by human activity, such as trash or runoff produced by factories

Climate change, measures to fight pollution

Sooner or later, we will have to recognise that the Earth has rights, too, to live without pollution. What mankind must know is that human beings cannot live without Mother Earth, but the planet can live without humans.

Professional bonds

We enhanced our professional bonds through collaboration and open communication. Working together on various tasks, we learned to appreciate each other's strengths and perspectives, which fostered a sense of mutual respect. Regular team meetings allowed us to stay aligned on goals, while also offering a space to exchange ideas and solve problems together. As we tackled challenges and celebrated our successes, our bond grew stronger, creating a supportive environment where everyone felt valued and motivated to contribute.
